Time After Time Konjola Wins When All Else Tried Proved a Disappointment.

The experience of Mr. Albert Chase, 2605 E. 38th street, Little Rock, Ark., is significant. He says: "I became weak and nervous because of stomach and kidney disorders. For a month my feet were so swollen I could not wear my shoes. I bloated badly after meals and became short of breath. Konjola soon corrected my stomach ailment and the swelling left my feet. I am now able to do light work again."

Now, consider carefully what Mrs. J. C. Rawls, 217 East Fourth street, Little Rock, Ark., has to say: "I suffered for years with stomach trouble. Constipation and weakened kidneys added to my misery. I began taking Konjola and in two months time I felt like another person. Konjola completely relieved me and I shall always praise it."

Demand Konjola and get it; don't be switched to a substitute.

the plane. It is hard to shoot accurately up into the air, and, as practice has proved, to drop a bomb accurately.

It is harder to hit a small airplane going 150 miles an hour than to hit a big battleship going twenty-five miles an hour. An airplane that can drop enough TNT to sink a battleship costs $75,000. A big battleship costs $50,000,000.

An anti-aircraft gun brings down a bombing plane, that means three men killed. If a TNT shell explodes on the deck of a battleship, or in water near it, and sinks the ship, it may kill a thousand.

If we must have battleships to provide broad decks for old naval officers and profits for builders, well and good. But, in addition to furnishing targets for other airplanes, we ought to have airplanes of our own to attend to enemy ships. We need airplanes.

Capt. Rickenbacker, our best fighting flyer, will tell Mr. Jones that when he was fighting in Germany, bringing down more than two dozen German planes, he paid no attention to anti-aircraft guns.

Gen. Mitchell, head of our air forces in France, will tell Mr. Jones that with half a dozen planes, he can sink any battleship afloat. Those interested take good care not to let him prove it.

New Law Ends Poverty Menace To Marriage Tie

Governor White Signs Bill Providing Husband and Wife May Live Together in County Homes; Tax Penalty Proposal Is Vetoed.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., April 14.—Separation of married persons forced to enter county homes in the declining years will be discontinued in Ohio under one of two bills signed by Governor George White yesterday.

The measure, sponsored in the legislature by Representative Dan Kane, Democrat of Dayton, provides that husbands and wives who have passed the age of 55 may reside together in the county homes.

INCREASE IN DRY ARRESTS LISTED

March Best Month Bureau Had in Year, Federal Chief Reports.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—A new high peak in federal prohibition enforcement with more arrests and more automobiles seized than in any similar period since July was announced today by Prohibition Director Woodcock for the month of March.

With his field forces strengthened by approximately 200 new agents, Woodcock said, the last month was "the best month the bureau has had since I took office nearly a year ago."

There were 5,273 dry law arrests during March, the prohibition director said, as contrasted with 4,181 for February. At the same time, he said, the seizure of automobiles jumped by 175 to a total of 719 for a month, and the granting of permanent injunctions increased 100 to 534.

"Notwithstanding this increased activity," he continued, "the courts more than kept up with us. There were 23,583 cases on the docket at the end of February and only 21,548 on April 1."

Meanwhile, Woodcock pushed plans for the assimilation into the federal dry forces of the remainder of 600 new agents authorized by the last congress. On July 1 they will begin a two weeks intensive training period in imprudent schools in the 12 prohibition districts.

There were no reports of bloodshed.

Although rumors were current throughout the early part of the day that all members of the royal family except King Alfonso had left the palace, palace authorities definitely denied this, and stated that the queen had had luncheon as usual there.

In Barcelona and other towns where a republic was proclaimed, the proclamation was greeted with cheering from the crowds of Republicans.

Republican leaders had established a permanent revolutionary junta at the residence of Alcala Zamora in Madrid. Among the members was Largo Caballero, president of the general union of workers. The junta leaders declared that they would work day and night "until the republic exists, or we are all again in jail."

The arrest of the quartet was the police answer, it was said, to action of promoters of the show yesterday in obtaining a temporary injunction restraining authorities from interfering with the show other than to serve papers and make arrests.

Alfonso King Since Infancy

King Alfonso was born May 17, 1886, nearly six months after the death of his father, King Alfonso XII. His mother, Queen Maria Christina, an Austrian princess, acted as regent during the young king's childhood, though Alfonso technically ascended the throne at birth.

In 1906, at the age of 20, Alfonso married Princess Victoria Eugenie, daughter of Prince Henry of Battenberg and granddaughter of the late English Queen Victoria, for whom she was named.

They had six children, four sons and two daughters. Prince Alfonso, heir to the Spanish throne, born May 10, 1907; Prince Jaime, June 23, 1908; Princess Beatrice, June 22, 1909; Princess Maria Christina, December 12, 1911; Prince Juan, June 20, 1913 and a son born Oct. 24, 1914.

The reigning house of Spain is a branch of the Bourbon family. No ruler of Europe ever had as many attempts made upon his life as did Alfonso XIII. No less than 12 times did assassins attempt to kill him. He was shot at, bombs thrown at him, his retainers were injured, but the king always managed to escape.

About 20 years ago there was grave anxiety for the health of the king, when the report went abroad that he had tuberculosis. It was said that he would die of the disease unless he consented to an operation. The young king, however, apparently recovered his health.

Need of More Modern Naval Uniform Cited

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—That a more modern uniform was needed by men of the United States navy was expressed by Capt. Charles S. Freeman, commanding officer of the U. S. Arizona in the current issue of "Proceedings of the United States Naval Institute," a semi-official publication.

Freeman stated "that the essential changes to bring the naval uniforms up to date are long overdue."

"The men of our navy deserve better of our country than to be garbed in the obsolete attire that they are now forced to wear," wrote the commander.

The uniform is a part of the old navy and should now be discarded for a more modern attire, the same as nearly all other obsolete material has been done away with for the more modern equipment, he contended.

WARNS FARMERS NOT TO BOOST ACREAGE

Agricultural Head Sounds Note of Warning Against Crop Increase.

By United Press
COLUMBUS, O., April 14.—A note of warning as to the danger of increased acreage and excess planting was sounded in a bulletin issued today by the state department of agriculture.

The department reported that, with the exception of onions, contemplated plantings were greatly increased, not only above last year, but in many cases above the last five year averages.

I. S. Guthery, state director of agriculture, said that under these conditions he believed that every farmer should be practically assured of a fair market for his product before planting. He pointed out that blind planting and trusting to luck for a market at harvest time was not good economics and was the basic why "so many farmers are financial failures."

"The farmer can not control the weather or be sure of a crop from a production standpoint, but he can hold his acreage down to a point where it can be marketed with a fair profit, and this he had repeatedly failed to do," the bulletin read.

SPIRITED FLAG CHASE LIKELY AS NATIONAL LOOP FACES BARRIER

Bitter Struggle for Pennant Looms with Five Clubs Apparently in Fight.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, April 14.—Eight clubs, all hoping for the best, faced the barrier for the opening of the National league season today and some 100,000 fans prepared to give them a hearty welcome.

Expert opinion already has forecast a five-club struggle in the National league pennant race with the St. Louis Cardinals favored to beat out the Chicago Cubs, Brooklyn Robins, New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates for their second championship in as many years.

Neglected in this forecast, the three other clubs, Boston Braves, the Phillies and Cincinnati Reds, all hoped to better their positions of a year ago and give the experts something to think about.

Cards Meet Reds
The first day's schedule sent the Cardinals against the Reds at Cincinnati; the Cubs against the Pirates at Chicago; the Robins against the Braves at Boston; and the Giants against the Phillies at Philadelphia.

Gaby Street, who piloted the Cardinals into first place last year, is banking on virtually the same lineup to repeat. Chick Hafey, a persistent holdout, is absent from the outfield but that's about the only change in the champions' lineup. Pitching support is hoped for from Dizzy Dean and Paul Derringer, recruits.

The Cubs looked much stronger than a year ago with additional pitching strength. Manager Rogers Hornsby again in shape and hopeful of playing 154 games at second base, and much stronger reserves.

The Robins, with the addition of Fresno Thompson at second base and Lefty O'Doul in the outfield, apparently are the most improved club in the league.

Hurling Holds Key
Granted that he gets improved hurling and that Johnny Vergez acceptably fills the bill at third base, John McGraw was confident that his New York Giants would be a factor from the start of the season. The Pirates, with few important changes, come up to the starting line in better physical condition than they have for years.

Bill McKechnie has quietly built up the Braves until they threaten to become extremely troublesome to the more highly-touted favorites. The Phillies, once more lack pitching strength and the team's undoubted punch at the plate hardly can hope to offset this weakness in the box. Cincinnati, with a rebuilt team that found little favor in expert eyes, has been beset by a last minute jinx. Mickey Heath, young first baseman has been stricken with tonsillitis and outfielder Cliff Heathcote has pulled a tendon. Joe Stripp was to be shifted to first base with Drexler playing third, and Roettger was to fill in for Heathcote.

A quick glance now over the situation indicates a bitter battle all the way with victory going to the team with the strongest reserves.

Ohio State Wins Track Meet with Ohio Wesleyan

By International News Service
DELAWARE, O., April 14.—True to the dope, Ohio State university's track team today was off to a winning start in its spring campaign, having defeated Ohio Wesleyan 96-12 in a dual meet.

Jack Keller, State hurdler and sprinter, was high scorer, with first places in the 100-yard dash and both the hurdles. His marks of 15.22 and 23.5 seconds in the low and high hurdles, respectively, broke field records set by Dick Rockaway of the Ohio State team last year.

Voigt Enters Play in British Amateur Tourney

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, April 14.—The British amateur golf championship at Westward Ho next month will have no Bobby Jones to harass native born players, but George Voigt of New York has decided to have another shot at the title.

Voigt plans to sail May 5, and already has filed his entry for the championship, which starts May 18.

Voigt competed in the championship last year and bowed to Jones in the semi-final only after a bitter struggle. He held a lead of two holes at the thirteenth hole only to loose on the home green.

Mrs. Roy Pollard's Princeton set a new record on the five-furlong race track at St. John's, Fla. He clipped it off in 1:01.3-5.

SPORTS

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

THE recreation baseball hysteria is spreading. The latest addition to the sport locally is the Marion county Sunday school league. The details of this organization will be found elsewhere on this page.

The rapid spread of recreation baseball throughout the country gives just cause for the many and loud laments of major league baseball magnates concerning the dearth of incoming player material. Whereas in former years the young athletes were occupying their spare time banging a horseshoe around whatever vacant lot was available, they are now spending it playing with a recreation ball.

It's tough for the big league clubs that the soft ball sport is coming into such popularity but it is easily seen that the game, at least in Marion, has provided a better game for "part time" athletes than would regular baseball.

What I started out to harp about in this column today was that Marion county sports are apparently on the upgrade. For several years, athletics in the county, with the exception of high school sports, have been more or less of a joke. A couple of teams have been entered in the Marion city Sunday school league and have made excellent showings but most of the rural communities have done nothing to speak of in the way of athletics.

The formulation of a recreation ball circuit in the county is a step toward the rehabilitation of rural sports. It is planned to organize a county Sunday school basketball league next winter and this would be another step toward a good rural athletic organization.

It will be a big boost for local sports if the newly organized recreation ball league is a success and there is every reason to think it will be.

Two Sunday school baseball teams will play this season under a different name than has designated them for the last several years. The Epworth Juniors will compete in the future under the name of the Epworth Bishops. The Central Christian No. 2 team will play under the monicker of the Christian Seniors.

Maybe they changed them in the hope that a new name would win more games. It might help but the addition of some good ball players would do a lot more good.

EXPERTS STILL PICK MACK'S ATHLETICS TO WIN AMERICAN FLAG

Philadelphia To Meet Washington Senators in Opening Fray Today.

BY WILLIAM WEEKES

Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO, April 14.—If the experts were correct in their recent vote on the likely outcome of the 1931 American league championship battle, Connie Mack and his Philadelphia Athletics today were headed toward their third consecutive title.

However, as the A's faced Washington in their inaugural, today, everything appeared to depend on the right and left wings of Mr. Mack's pitching department—George Earnshaw and Robert Moses Grove. Earnshaw was Mack's nominee to face the Senators today, with Lloyd Brown as his opponent.

Johnson Confident
Walter Johnson, manager of the Senators, who are counted as the A's most formidable competition, believes his club has a better than even chance of upsetting the Athletics.

The New York Yankees, who under the late Miller Huggins required just eight afternoons during which to win two world championships, opened against the Boston Red Sox. The Yankees were starting their first campaign under Joseph Vince McCarthy who pulled the Chicago Cubs out of the National league doldrums. The Red Sox also faced the campaign under a new leader, John "Shano" Collins, with hopes of breaking their long time lease on the lower end of the second division.

Cleveland vs. Chicago
At Cleveland, the Indians and the Chicago White Sox claimed attention, the Indians because they have been rated as first division material and had their ace, Wes Ferrell, out to do the pitching. The White Sox, with much new blood and apparently immensely improved over last season, hoped they were starting a trip toward a first division honor for the first time in years. Al Thomas was Manager Donle Bush's starting hurler selection.

Detroit, also fortified with new material, and looking better to Manager Buckle Harris than anything he has operated since he left Washington, was at St. Louis, also improved according to Manager Bill Killefer. The veteran Earl Whitehill had the pitching assignment for the Tigers and Walter Sletzer had it for the Browns.

Fair weather was promised on all fronts and a total attendance of around 108,000 was indicated. The Yankee stadium at New York was expected to attract 45,000, while the Athletics and Washington figured to draw 28,000. The indicated figure at Cleveland was 22,000, with Detroit and St. Louis entertaining about 13,000.

Son of Cleveland Pilot Playing with Bishops

DELAWARE, O., April 14.—While Roger Peckinpaugh was leading his Cleveland Indians in the opening game of the baseball season Tuesday afternoon at League square, his son, Roger, Jr., was practicing on the diamond at Ohio Wesleyan for the freshman team. The younger Peckinpaugh is well known to Cleveland baseball fans as he played for two years at second base for Shaw high school before going to college.

At Ohio Wesleyan, Peckinpaugh promises to spread the family name and fame throughout collegiate circles as his early season work has stamped him as one of the coming Bismarck stars. In college, as in high school, he chooses to depart a trifle from family tradition and have his name in the lineup as a second baseman rather than as a shortstop.

Strangler Lewis Again in Wrestling Spotlight

By The Associated Press
LOS ANGELES, Calif., April 14.—For the fourth time in a decade Ed (Strangler) Lewis today assumed the role of claimant of the heavyweight wrestling championship of the world.

Considered by many in recent years to be too decrepit to return to the throne of grapplers as recognized in California and several other states, Lewis last night terminated Ed (Don) George's reign which had lasted four months, defeating the former university athlete in straight falls.

BATTER UP! HOOVER TO TOSS FIRST BALL

President Will Officially Open Season in Washington Park Today.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 14.—President Hoover heard the call of the umpire today and led the way to the ball park for opening of the big league season.

Like many another desk-bound man, the chief executive found the opening day was perhaps his busiest business of the year, but he arranged to get off a few hours between speeches for the first clash between the champion Philadelphia Athletics and the runners-up of last year, the Washington Senators.

A freshly sharpened pencil for the score card and a few coins for peanuts were in his pocket.

His arm is in good trim for tossing out the first ball, according to his physician. Long practice with the medicine ball each morning before most people are out of bed, makes it seem easy for him to toss the little horseshoe pellet.

The president is a strong supporter of the Washington team, because of his friendship for Walter Johnson, the old master.

Colonels Seek Two A. A. Flags in Row

Minor League Race Opens with Louisville Favored to Retain Crown.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, April 14.—Louisville's Colonels, the last club to win two American Association championships in a row, today attacked the task of accomplishing the feat again.

Under Joe McCarthy and Bill Meyer, Louisville won the titles in 1925 and 1926, but no team has been able to repeat since. The Kansas City Blues, victors in 1929, and strong favorites to repeat last season, were unable to beat the growing jinx and never figured in the championship race, finishing fifth.

Equipoise in Impressive Start at Havre De Grace

By The Associated Press
BALTIMORE, Md., April 14.—Equipoise, leading money winning juvenile in 1930, has made an impressive start in campaign designed to win three-year-old laurels this season.

The C. V. Whitney thoroughbred, future book favorite to win the Kentucky derby, made his first start as a three-year-old at Havre De Grace yesterday and easily defeated a fair field in the Glen Oaks purse. Equipoise ran the six furlongs in the fast time of 1:11.2-5 to win by three lengths from George D. Widener's Penetian with H. T. Archibald's Dark Hero another four lengths back.

SOCK! BANG!

Ruth and Wilson Start Battle for Home Run Honors.

By United Press
NEW YORK, April 14.—Hack Wilson of the Chicago Cubs and Babe Ruth of the New York Yankees began their duel for 1931 major league home run honors today confident that they would be able to surpass the marks they turned in last season.

Ruth, who appears to be in the best of condition, relinquished his home run title to Wilson last season. The slugging Chicago Cubs outfielder hit 56 circuit blows, four short of the record number. Ruth hit in 1927. Babe had 49 last season.

Last Game Tonight in Stanley Cup Hockey Play

By The Associated Press
MONTREAL, April 14.—The fifth and final game of the Stanley cup hockey series between the cup holders, Les Canadiens of Montreal, and the Chicago Blackhawks, will be played here tonight.

The cup rivals enter the decisive encounter with no outstanding favorite. The Canadiens' capture the first game of the series but looked like certain losers when they dropped two in a row to the speedy Hawks. Then, after trailing 2 to 1, for two periods in the fourth game here Saturday night, the Canadiens pushed over three goals in the last period to win the game and even the count at two games-all.

Freeman Risks Welter Title in Battle Tonight

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, O., April 14.—Tommy Freeman, welterweight champion, will risk his title in a fifteen round battle tonight against the youngster from whom he won it here six months ago—Young Jack Thompson, Oakland, Calif., Negro.

It will be Freeman's first defense of his title. He was favored in the wagering to retain it although Thompson is positive he will win back the crown by knocking Freeman out.

Freeman, however, is just as confident of victory, declaring that he had defeated Thompson twice, and tonight he certainly would give him something to remember him by. Freeman plans to center his attack on the body to slow the speedy sharp-shooting Negro. It was this attack that enabled Freeman to defeat Thompson for the title.

Prospects today were that ten or eleven thousand spectators will witness the match with gate receipts at $55,000. Freeman will receive fifty per cent of the gate with Thompson getting ten per cent.

Neither Freeman nor Thompson appeared to have any difficulty in making the required weight, 147 pounds. Both were a fraction under this notch when they finished their training yesterday.

The championship battle will be supported by an attractive preliminary card. In the semi-final of ten rounds are two heavy blasting welterweights, Gorilla Jones of Akron, and Paul Pirrone, a Cleveland prospect. Tommy Grogan of Omaha, and Joey Goodman of Cleveland, junior welterweights, are paired for ten rounds ahead of Jones and Pirrone.

TWO TEAMS TO PRACTICE

Two recreation ball clubs are billed to practice today at 6 p. m. on the Steam Shovel athletic field. John Clark will take his Epworth No. 1 team out for the initial practice of the season and Bill Haruff will continue drilling the Calvary Evangelical nine. Calvary has already held one or two practices.

12 TEAM RECREATION BASEBALL LEAGUE IS FORMED IN COUNTY

Sunday School Circuit Will Play 10-Game Sked; World's Series at End.

Designed to operate in the same manner as the Marion county Sunday school recreation ball league has been organized. Twelve teams are entered in the new organization which will commence competition on Saturday May 9 and continue through a 10 game schedule of play.

The league is divided into two separate sections and no team in one division will meet a team of the other division during the regular playing season. At the close of the playing season the winners of the two divisions and the runners-up of the two divisions will meet in a "little world's series" to decide the county championship. The World's series will be contested under the double elimination plan. Each team must lose two games before being out of the competition. Further details of the world's series will be released later by the committees in charge of the league's affairs.

The sections of the league are to be designated as North and South. The North section is made up of the following entries: Kirkpatrick M. E.; Morrill Baptist; Morrill M. E.; Caledonia M. E.; Grand Prairie Baptist; and Mabel M. E.

The South division will be composed of the following: Meeker M. E.; Green Camp Baptist; Green Camp Reformed; Waldo Lutheran; Agosta M. E.; and Green Camp M. E.

A committee of five members from various districts of the county will govern the league. Frank Furness of Kirkpatrick is chairman. The other four members are M. R. Conwell of Waldo, E. F. Hess of Caledonia, Elmer Allen of Green Camp and Marvin Crabtree, a resident of Marion who is a pastor of various county churches.

Associated Press
April 14.—The stock market today was marked by a rally in the electrical

after a display of initial transactions.
The rally was promptly followed by a sharp decline in nearly a month.
The market was bullish in the initial rally, but its inability to carry the upturn beyond the 400-point level
led to a sharp decline. There had been no change in the wobbly market of electrical equipment, with the appliance picture expected to appear later. The market will show that its 400-point dividend was not a permanent feature. It has been rumored that West past week. The motion picture industry, however, was not affected by bear traders as a group, because theater advertisers are inclined to fall out of the change of government, since Spanish advertising is not known in this country. It is not true that the market may be on the recent advance made by international traders. In any case, the total loss was only $60,000,000. The market conditions remained unchanged, with the weekly condition of larger federal reserve banks was favorable, showing a drop of $110,000,000 in loans and advances. Credit conditions remained unchanged, with call money at 4 per cent.

DOES IMPOSSIBLE

High School Youth Advances Theory to Trisect Arc.

ALAMOSA, Colo.—When Miss Oala Henline, mathematics teacher in the Alamosa high school, told one of her classes that trisecting an arc was one of the things that just couldn't be done, Orville E. Roberts, 16, a junior, took it as a challenge and set about to accomplish the impossible.

Orville is fascinated by things that "can't be done."

For hours and days he worked with a compass a straight edge and a pencil. He dreamed arcs and pencilled them in all his classes.

A week or so later he told Mrs. Henline that he had succeeded in trisecting an arc. He could not explain the mathematical principles involved, but told his teacher that he had succeeded after he had sat up until midnight figuring it out.

Orville's solution appears to local mathematicians to be reasonable. It is being submitted to expert mathematicians at the University of Colorado for proof.

State May Step in to Aid Rural Residents

By International News Service
BOSTON—Eventual subsidizing of medical treatment for rural communities by the state as the only practical method of alleviating the present uneven distribution of doctors was the recent opinion of Alexander S. Begg, dean of Boston's University's school of medicine.

His opinion was in reply to a question as to what the institution, of which he is head, was doing to send young doctors to rural sections of the country where their services were so much needed.

In many foreign countries, the dean pointed out, the problem of distribution of medical aid was solved by a system of subsidizing the young medical school graduates who upon completing his university training was sent by his state to the country as a physician on a salary for a limited period.

Dean Begg pointed out that certain New England towns attempt to attract doctors by guaranteeing them a certain amount of money each year. This system, however, was not very successful as certain of the inhabitants of several such towns feel that they are entitled to free medical treatment because of the subsidy.

"As a matter of fact," Dean Begg declared, "the lack of medical attention in rural communities in many times overstressed. The general medical care even in rural communities today, is pretty good, except of course in the sparsely settled areas which will never be sufficiently covered by doctors, to take care of all emergencies."

"In medicine we cannot aim at second best," the Boston University Dean continued. "We graduate no class B doctors, and class A men will not go to places where they cannot satisfy certain standards of living and practices of medicine."

"Medical association now are making a scientific study of the problem of doctor distribution, but the ideal way of handling the question has not yet been found."

JUNE DIRTIEST 1930 MONTH IN NEW YORK

Meteorologist Finds 5.73 Tons of Dirt in Each Mile Above City.

By International News Service
NEW YORK — June was New York's dirtiest month in 1930, and December its cleanest.

Graphs, tables and charts, show that the month of bridges averaged the highest daily air pollution with 5.73 tons of dirt suspended in each cubic mile of air. December, the cleanest month, had only 2.65 tons to the cubic mile.

Prepared by David H. Morris, meteorologist at the Central Park observatory, the figures of the first annual air pollution survey here shows that 8 a. m. was the dirtiest period in the day and between 12 and 2 p. m. the cleanest.

February was another dirty month, averaging 5.29 tons, and November was runner-up to the 12th month with only 2.79 tons of suspended dirt to the cubic mile. One of the dirtiest days in December was the day after Christmas when 4.70 tons of suspended dirt were found to the cubic mile of air, and Dec. 15 with only .59 tons was the cleanest.

Wind, Dr. Morris found, had considerable to do with the amount of dirt floated over the city. Coming from the northwest, the wind brought eight per cent less dirt than it did coming from the southwest. Winter months, contrary to popular belief, were much cleaner than the summer ones, and all the smoke and soot poured forth from the chimneys in those months failed to bring their records up to the high mark set in the perfect days of June.

... Is the refrigerator manufactured by a reliable company with proper experience in the electric refrigeration field?

... Is there plenty of food and shelf space?

... Is the cabinet itself well designed, sturdily built and properly insulated?

... Is there provision for the freezing of an adequate supply of ice cubes?

(Quantity of ice rather than number of cubes, which may be of large or small size, should be taken into consideration.)

... Will the refrigerator constantly maintain a proper temperature for the preservation of foods?

... Can the freezing of ice cubes and desserts be speeded up when the need arises?

... Can this extra freezing speed for ice cubes be had without affecting the temperature on the food shelves? (Too low a temperature on the shelves will, of course, injure food.)

... Is there a place to keep ice cream, meat, fish, game, "quick frozen" foods or an extra supply of ice cubes indefinitely at a below freezing temperature?

... Are these various temperatures (a. extra fast freezing; b. fast freezing; c. below freezing for storage; and d. normal food preservation temperature) automatically maintained without any attention from the owner?

... Does the refrigerating unit operate frequently or at infrequent intervals? (The fewer the "stops" and "starts" the longer the unit will last and the less it costs to run.)

... How long will the cooling unit continue to cool the refrigerator even though the current is shut off? (Refrigeration should continue "x 10 or 12 hours.)

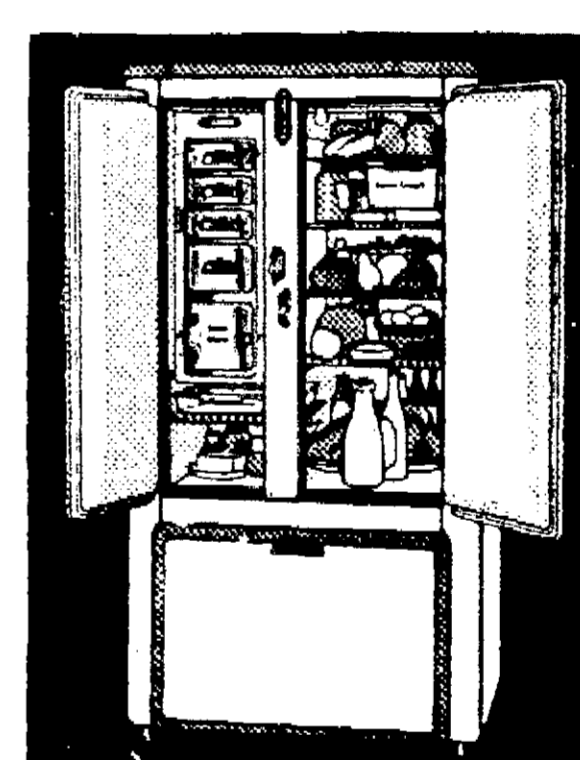

... Can the back parts of all the shelves, even the lowest, be reached without kneeling or sitting down?

... Has provision been made for keeping vegetables fresh and crisp?

... Can the top of the refrigerator be used to "set things down for a moment" while the contents of the cabinet are being re-arranged?

... Is the refrigerator so designed and finished as to add to the attractiveness of the kitchen?

... Has the experience of users over a considerable period of time shown that the refrigerator is long-lived and dependable?

No one feature... however good... however important... is big enough in itself to cause any electric refrigerator to overshadow another in value. It is the COMBINATION of good points that makes true worth.

Here, at the left, are 16 questions to use in judging a refrigerator's value.

Some of these points are so basic and necessary that no buyer should think of doing without them.

Take your pencil. Check any or all of the features you regard as essential. They are all so evident we do not believe you will skip a single one.

Now investigate... if you wish... any make of refrigerator in which you are interested.

Apply this vital factor measurement. Try it on all of them.

But we can save you time. We can tell you in advance that only in Kelvinator will you find all these vital elements. Only in Kelvinator, the oldest, will you find the completeness of design and construction that result from long experience and ripe maturity.

Kelvinator has the world's record fastest freezing speed, Iso-Thermic Tubes, 4-Way Cold, each an exclusive possession. Yet Kelvinator's story centers on none of these. A Kelvinator is a Kelvinator because it has them all... and more. See the Kelvinator before you buy.

COUNCIL AUTHORIZES STAFF FOR HOSPITAL

Move Made To Gain Recognition of American College of Surgeons.

Safety Director T. E. Sonnenstine last night was authorized by city council to prepare a constitution of rules and regulations as he shall deem expedient for the proper operation of City hospital, and to appoint a medical staff, all to conform to rules of the American College of Surgeons.

The action was a formal move on the part of council to work out plans for establishing a staff at the hospital and eventually winning recognition of the American College of Surgeons.

An analysis of the hardness of city water for the period March 25 to April 12, inclusive, submitted by City Chemist Floyd G. Browne, was approved and ordered placed on file. Firemen Succumb to Lure of Indoor Golf

By International News Service. WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass.—Firemen of station No. 3 here during their spare time have constructed an indoor miniature golf course in the basement of the station house and play while waiting for an alarm.

First "the boys" got permission of Fire Chief Thomas H. Slamon. In less than six days the fire ladders had a fine nine-hole course constructed.

The "first firemen's golf course in the universe" covers a space about thirty feet by twenty-five feet.

The fairways and greens were made with sawdust plus glue, the sawdust being dyed. Holes were made in the concrete floor. Markers were set up at the holes.

Old nozzles of hoses, axes, lanterns, hydrant wrenches and brooms were used for the hazards along the fairway.

So "tricky" is the course that it takes a deal of skill to go around the course in less than twenty-seven, according to the firemen-golfers.

CALIFORNIA WHEAT SUPPLY DWINDLING

Once Second Largest Producer, State Must Now Import Crop.

By International News Service. BERKELEY, Calif.—California's wheat production is failing to meet the demand, according to a bulletin issued by the University of California college of agriculture.

Once the second largest wheat producing state in the nation, California today is producing less than one half its annual requirements, the bulletin says.

E. W. Braun, author of the bulletin, says that in 1930 California harvested about 40 million bushels, but in the last five years the production has averaged about thirteen and a half million bushels. The decrease in production has made it necessary for the state to import annually more than 16 million bushels. About half of this amount comes from the Northwest, while the rest comes from as far east as the Mississippi river.

Braun believes that the future trend of wheat production in Canada, United States, Argentina, Australia and Russia will have an important bearing upon the world level of wheat prices.

During the immediate future, he says, the trend of wheat production in Europe with its consequent effect on the world wheat price will very largely determine the price that may be expected for California wheat. California prices fluctuate with those of eastern markets.

Had Pimples and Blackheads Very Badly. Healed by Cuticura.

"I had pimples and blackheads very badly. The pimples were large, hard and red and itched so much that I scratched and squeezed them, making my skin very sore. I had them about six months. I tried so many other remedies without success that I thought my case was hopeless. On the advice of a friend I purchased some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In one week's time there was a big difference, and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and one and a half boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." Miserable Ruptures Are Forgotten

If your rupture is gradually growing worse you need our care. Properly fitted ruptures grow better instead of worse. Most of them get well.

If finally you think you need a larger pad—you are all wet—you need our care. Come in and let us show you how much of a mistake a larger pad would be. You can hold it with your fingers, why a pad as large as your two fists.

new clue arrived in the person of Vivian Gordon, who was found strangled in a room at the Hotel New York. It was hinted that Rothstein would have given some light on the murders of other Broadway gamblers, the diary left by the slain girl may solve his murder. Rothstein gives clues to his strictly confidential business. One of these may be the thread which eventually will identify his killer. Rothstein, a grim, poker-faced man, was known as king of New York's floating gambling parlors for years, but it was during the World series scandal of 1919 that he became publicly notorious. He was accused of bribing Chicago White Sox players.

ON the fateful night he was sitting in a Broadway restaurant when a telephone call summoned

"John Doe" and "Richard Roe." In December, 1928, McManus was acquitted and indictments against the others were dismissed.

IN 1929 District Attorney Thomas Crain was elected on his promise to have the murder solved within a few weeks. Grover Whalen made similar promises and he was appointed police commissioner. The Rothstein estate was eventually placed at two million. Inez Norton, a former Follies beauty, inherited $45,000 of this.

An ironical note to the Rothstein murder is the last notation on police records. On Jan. 15 this year a furrier was awarded a $4,150 judgment against the estate for a broadtail and sable coat which Rothstein had purchased for one butterfly beauty who moved in his world.

As Rothstein was generous to these girls of the criminal half-world, so the voice of one of them, speaking after death, now may bring his murderer to justice.

Musical Gem To Be Broadcast Over Columbia

By Brush-Moore Leased Wire

A musical masterpiece never before heard on the air will be introduced by Howard Barlow symphony orchestra Tuesday in a symphonic program which will be broadcast over the WABC-Columbia network at 9:30 p. m.

The work is Balakirev's tone-poem, "Islamey," written originally for the piano.

James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion, is to be master-of ceremonies in a new semi-weekly program, starting Tuesday.

He will have the assistance of Broadway stars as guests, and from an orchestra. The series is to be heard over an NBC-WFAP network at 6 p. m. each Tuesday and Thursday.

It's a fact-reproducing the shrill screams of a locomotive whistle of the 1849 type, required some deep thinking on the part of the directors of Empire Builders program.

Finally, it was accomplished by plugging four or five slits of wood in the head of the whistle regularly used in the broadcasts. This produced the desired tone.

Paul Whiteman and his popular orchestra will present another of their weekly programs Tuesday at 8 p. m. over NBC's WJZ hookup.

Tuesday's program is composed almost entirely of popular waltz tunes.

Hack Wilson, homerun king of the National league, will appear as guest artist with Richy Craig, Jr.,

during the latter's program over the Columbia air lanes Tuesday at Daily Proverb—"Nature furnishes genuine gold, but art makes false."

Nature may have thrown that quake down in Panama just to be fair and not prejudice public opinion in the United States against a Nicaraguan canal.

Miss Ruth Nichols has established a new air speed record for women of 210.885 miles an hour, beating the previous record made by Amelia Earhart Putnam by a fraction over twenty-nine miles. What are the girls trying to do anyway; show the men folks that they aren't so fast?

E. S. Martin says "there seems as yet to be no mass production of exceptional men." That's fortunate, if we can depend on the assumption of Senator Norris and his fellow radicals that they are exceptional.

Having gone to New York City to study the crime clean-up campaign being waged there, a party of Chicago officials have decided that their home, by comparison, is a "city of angels." Even at that, not so much is said for Chicago.

Governor Emerson, of Illinois, has vetoed the bill for the repeal of the search-and-seizure laws of that state. The governor manifestly is out of sympathy with the wishes of the majority of the voters of his state, but that doesn't necessarily mean that he isn't right in vetoing a bill which strikes, as he puts it, "at the fundamental unity of national government."

The Berlin girl whose heart, through mistake, was cut open by a surgeon of that city and sewed up by his assistant has recovered, which goes again to show that there is never a rule without its exception.

Commander O'Neil has given notice that the American legion will demand pensions for widows of World War veterans and compensation for the children of disabled veterans at the next session of congress and there's a movement afoot looking to the cashing of compensation certificates in full. "The only occasion for surprise regarding the latter proposed movement is that it developed somewhat sooner than anticipated."

Mary Garden's secretary has issued an emphatic denial from Monte Carlo of the published story that that famous singer was contemplating retiring from opera. Well, well! How easy it is to be fooled! Here we've been thinking that opera had retired from Mary!

The Holland-American liner, Stendam, went aground at a point near West Brantley, Sunday, the third big liner to go aground near Cowes within a period of six days. The British might profitably expend less money on warships and more on dredging, as it is scarcely ever that a great liner goes through the Solent without touching bottom or at least stirring up the mud at some point.

Labor Wins a Disputed Point.

Passage of the so-called "yellow dog" bill by the house of representatives in the closing hours of the general assembly was a victory for organized labor. Though "yellow dog" contracts are rare in this state, the here fact that they are legal is a constant source of irritation to labor.

This type of contract specifies that employees may not join a trade union during their term of employment. A typical one used in the West Virginia coal fields contains statements that the employee understands the company is operating non-union and that it is to continue to operate non-union while he is in its employ. The employee states he is not a member of any organization of mine workers, and that if he wants to become a member of any such organization he will quit after giving three days' notice. It stipulates also that the employee will not make any effort to unionize other employees, and will accept the scale of wages which the company is paying for work similar to his.

The mere passage of a bill declaring such provisions in contracts of employment against public policy and void does not mean necessarily that labor's fight on the issue in Ohio is ended, however. In California and Colorado laws making it a misdemeanor to install individual contracts of the "yellow dog" variety have been held invalid by court decisions. In 1915, a Kansas statute making it a criminal offense for an employer to prescribe a "yellow dog" contract was invalidated by the supreme court, Justices Day, Holmes and Hughes dissenting.

Due to the fact that such contracts have been employed but rarely in Ohio, however, it is probable that the issue will be settled once and for all if Governor White signs the bill making them against public policy and void. The "yellow dog" issue is a constant source of irritation which Ohio would do well to eliminate.

The Police Chieftainship.

Mayor Don Jones has asked the civil service commission to approve the dismissal of William E. Marks who has been serving for a probationary period of ninety days as chief of police. The mayor charges that the appointee has been inactive and has not rendered satisfactory service, although no specific charge of sins either of commission or omission are made by the mayor in his request to the commission. Doubtless he prefers to make specific charges before the commission.

The chief concern of this newspaper in connection with the selection of a chief was and still is that the best man obtainable may be selected for the place. Our chief concern is the welfare of the city, not for the success of any particular candidate. When the selection of a chief came up, we hoped for the selection of a man in whose honesty of purpose, in whose official integrity, our citizens would have confidence. That is still our hope.

The law required that the appointee must be one of the three leading-grade men. Marks was one of them, although his grade was not the highest given out, which, we understand, was due to the fact that he was not given credit for any military service, and he was selected for a ninety-day trial as chief. Why he was named was not stated at the time, and question on that point might never have arisen had it not been for the persistent report which was circulated within the first month after his appointment that he was not to hold the place permanently.

It was not long thereafter that a second report was circulated, and it still obtains, that there was a plan afoot to name for chief one of the applicants for the position who failed to get either the first, second or third grade; in other words, one of the applicants who had failed to qualify under the law as the result of the commission's examination. According to the report, the probationary appointee was not satisfactory to the city administration, and would be dismissed. He having been dismissed, two or three others of the applicants who received higher grades than the applicant favored for the place were to be asked to withdraw their applications that the way might be cleared for the favored man.

The Star is not speaking from prejudice when it expresses its feeling that, in the face of this second report, which has been circulated for the last five or six weeks, the situation is one which demands the fullest investigation by the civil service commission. In justice to the city administration and the people of Marion alike, the facts in the case should be established. If an attempt has been made, or is being made, to circumvent the law governing such appointments in the manner in which the report indicates, it is the right of our citizens to know of it; and if there is no real foundation for the report, justice to all concerned demands that the commission should so state. The truth or falsity of the report should be made known.

It may be held that there may be call for the use of such circumvention of the law in order that the best material possible may be obtained. The objection to this is that any plan to circumvent a law which may be worked for the benefit of a community might just as easily be employed to its harm.

Failure.

The general assembly, as anticipated, did not acquit itself of its obligation to redistrict the state. The additional congressmen to which Ohio is entitled will be elected from the state at large, consequently, until the task can be accomplished.

This is a distinct disappointment. While it will be possible, of course, to redistrict some time in the future there was no legitimate reason for failure to accomplish it now. It means simply that the eighty-ninth general assembly strayed so far from its proper contacts with the people that it failed to serve their interests. Redistricting failed because of unscrupulous factions, political ambition and the depressing confusion that is so frequently a characteristic of legislative activities in representative governments when the "representative" lose touch with public opinion.

It is no solace to say that the assembly did the best it could. Public opinion finally forced the national congress to reapportion the house of representatives. Public opinion forced the general assembly to consider redistricting this state. Public opinion wanted, and still wants, that duty performed, though the assembly did not heed it. If the legislators meeting in Columbus think that evidence of their own incapacity to cooperate in performing an essential piece of state business will draw any sympathy from their constituents they are wrong. In this instance there is no sympathy.

The one scrap of consolation remaining is that the assembly did not yield on a compromise plan that would have been redistricting in name only. That would have been worse than nothing, imposing a setup that would have caused no end of irritation. As the matter stands now, a future assembly will take up a neglected task without being hampered by its predecessor's bungling.

The United States can hardly complain against the decision of foreign sugar in markets to hold up their product for higher prices. That's what in effect, we are doing here in this country by endeavoring to decrease wheat production.

Chairman Wood of the house appropriations committee, holds that it is about time that we served notice that United States government funds are not to be used in preaching to American youth the sort of doctrine they are trying to enforce in Russia. About time! That's putting it far too mildly. The time is long overdue.

Two judges of the Cook county superior court, one state representative and a city councilman are listed among the Chicagoans who submitted testimonial letters in behalf of James Murray, the ward politician who received a twenty-five-year sentence to Atlanta prison for his part in the Roundout mail robbery, but is to be released on parole next month after having served six years and a half. There's no getting away from the fact that Chicago politicians stick by their own.

Editorial Opinion.

THE DRIFT IN COLLEGE SPORTS

Columbia has followed a good lead; it has decided not to differentiate between one sport and another in the awarding of varsity insignia. That is as it should be. What matters it whether an undergraduate gives his best in a football game or in a fencing match? He should receive the best that the university has to award for athletic prowess. We rejoice over this decision because it means that another outstanding university has fallen into line as far as the question of sports is concerned.

Nature gives this boy a sturdy pair of legs and a deep chest; to one it gives a supple wrist and a quick eye; to another it gives a sense of balance and the quickness of mind and muscle so essential to the adept at squash or indoor tennis. Because we believe in the braiding influence of competition we favor the awarding of college numerals and letters to successful competitors. The boy or man who never wins either his numerals or his letters may enjoy to the full his activities in the intercollegiate sports arena, but nevertheless we are still in support of the policy of giving prizes.

There is a definite tendency toward building up what have been known as the minor sports—soccer, Rugby, swimming, boxing, lacrosse, fencing, basketball golf and so on. The most recent development has been to give them equal standing with the so-called major sports. There could be nothing more wholesome in the undergraduate world. Colleges and universities are supposed to lay the foundation for the growth of good Americanism rather than to profit by the athletic prowess of a small group of abnormally well developed youngsters, who are in no sense representative, either mentally or physically, of the generation in which they live.—New York Herald Tribune

HOW NOT TO ENFORCE PROHIBITION

Various judges of the United States district court, including Judge Wilkerson, of Chicago, have called the attention of federal grand juries to a situation that requires an explanation by the prohibition enforcement bureau. The federal courts, says the protesting judges, are cluttered up with cases against petty violators of the prohibition law. The calendars are congested and justice is delayed. Yet the major offenders who smuggle, produce or distribute banned intoxicants in large quantities escape indictment and prosecution.

To what is this state of things attributable? Are the prohibition agents too impatient to make investigations and gather evidence against the persons back of the petty offenders? Are they too anxious to make records for arrests and convictions to take the necessary pains to obtain convictions that would be really effective? Or do the major offenders employ secret means of warding off arrests and prosecutions?

The courts do well to protest against a practice that throws suspicion on the prohibition force and tends to degrade the prohibition law, making it ridiculous.—Chicago News

CUBA LEARNS A LESSON

For many months Havana and other cities of Cuba have been the scene of intermittent rioting and disturbance. Student demonstrations, strikes and bombings have taken place virtually every week, and President Machado's government has been obliged to enforce martial law for long periods. Possibly the chief cause of the persistence of Cuba's restlessness has been the methods Machado has used to suppress dissent.

Harsh repression has been the keynote of his policy, using a powerful police force which is more army than police. Schools and universities have been closed, the press rigidly censored and many political opponents of Machado imprisoned without adequate trial. Recognizing that the normal way out of the situation, revolution was made impossible by the Platt amendment, which allows American intervention, the state department has succeeded in bringing about a change of the Cuban government's policy. Just how much pressure was brought by Ambassador Guggenheim is not clear, but he is very close to Machado personally, and this certainly facilitated an understanding.

It was quite time that Washington acted to induce a milder regime in Havana, for as long as the shadow of American intervention prevents Cuban opposition elements from taking forcible measure it is the obligation of the United States to prevent such high-handed acts of dictatorship as have stamped the reign of Machado for most of a year.—Cincinnati Enquirer

The Word of God.

Preach, saying, "The kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely ye have received, freely give."—Matthew 10: 7, 8.

Careful Diet Important.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

It is only recently that I wrote on the subject of colds. But I can not refrain from again warning you against this common ailment.

The common cold is one of the greatest enemies of the public health. It is all too frequent in its occurrence and in many instances can be prevented.

The medical adviser at Cornell university has inaugurated a campaign against colds. This is the first time that any university has organized a plan for combating colds. If all similar institutions and the public in general took notice of the necessity of guarding against colds, there would be a great decrease in this ailment.

A cold causes more unnecessary suffering, inconvenience, and economic loss than most persons realize. The statistics gathered on this disease are staggering. In spite of its menace, little progress has been made in cutting down the prevalence of the disease.

The treatment of the "cold preventive classes" held at Cornell includes "early exposure to the ultra violet light, and instruction regarding diet and ventilation. In special cases, careful study of the nose and throat is made. The use of vaccines will be utilized wherever possible.

Diet is important in the prevention of colds. You should eat nourishing food. Milk, fresh fruit and leafy vegetables should be included in your daily diet.

Drink plenty of water. At least six to eight glasses of water should be consumed every day. Excess of coffee and tea are not advised. Contrary to the common impression, according to the Cornell experiment, whiskey is more likely to bring on a cold than to prevent one.

Sleep eight hours every day. This helps to ward off attacks. If you feel a cold coming on, it is best to remain in bed. Frequently a day away from work will prevent the necessity of a longer absence from work.

Your home and place of business should be well ventilated. The air should be moist. The temperature indoors should be between sixty-eight and seventy-two degrees.

If the weather is cold, dress accordingly. Avoid chilling the body and keep away from persons who have colds. If you have a cold, guard others from getting it from you.

Go all, if you have a cold do not neglect it. Go to your doctor, so that he may prescribe for you and instruct you. Do not rely on "home treatment" and patent medicines.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

T. I. N. Q.—What can be done for a red, bloodshot vein in the center of the eye?

A.—This may be due to strain of cold. Have the eye properly examined so that definite advice and treatment can be outlined.

J. W. B. Q.—Is there any chance of complete recovery from gastric ulcer in a man of 40? The patient has been on a diet and has gained eight pounds, but there is still slight soreness in the pit of the stomach and heartburn at times. What would you advise?

A.—Follow your doctor's advice and instructions most faithfully. Proper diet and general care should bring about general improvement. For further instructions send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.—Copyright, 1931, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally, if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this paper.

Dinner Stories.

You have made a great many friends. "Yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "But I'm getting too many of the kind who start in saying 'I'm going to be perfectly frank with you' and then explain that unless I change my opinions they can't vote for me."

Judge to victim of holdup—"While you were being relieved of your valuables, did you call the police?"

Victim—"I did, your honor—everything I could think of."

"So you don't think you would be content with a domestic life?"

"I might," answered Miss Cayenne. "But so many people I know would rather go to Reno and play roulette than stay home and play backgammon."

Host—"What do you think of those cigars I got them from an airplane pilot?"

Guest after a few puffs—"What he use them for—sky writing?"

Lee De Forest and Space.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

After Lee De Forest had perfected his marvelous invention of the audion, he began to devote some attention to the commercial possibilities which it opened up. A big company displayed an interest in the "audion amplifier," and promised a report on the matter. Months passed by, while the inventor's means melted away until he was both penniless and well nigh in despair.

Finally, he received from a stranger an offer of $50,000 for patent rights on the audion amplifier. The stranger represented himself as an attorney for a certain company, and made the offer with the company's authorization. De Forest accepted the offer and received the money. He never learned to his sorrow, it is said, that another company had voted to pay him $500,000 for his invention. Today his various inventions are estimated at the huge figure of $25,000,000.

Lee De Forest was born in Daldale, Georgia, in 1874. As a lad, he showed the deep interest in mechanical apparatus of various sorts. He made lots of toys, and even manufactured his own motors. An epochal moment in his life as a boy was hearing a replica of the first Edison tin-plate phonograph. Electricity and its possibilities fired the imagination of the now undeveloped lad of fifteen. He wanted to be an electrical engineer; but above all he aspired to be an inventor. His father had little faith in the possibilities of electricity, especially as at that time no courses in electricity were given in American colleges. But the lad's ambition was dormant only, and far from dead, despite his father's skepticism.

After attending the Mt. Hermon preparatory school, he went to Sheffield college of Yale university. Here he had the good fortune to attend the first course in electricity ever given at any American college. It was not until his senior year that he came to understand just what "electrical waves" really were, as scientists now know them. In a letter to his father, at the conclusion of his post-graduate work at Yale, he confessed that he had become obsessed with the idea of communication without wires. He had complete confidence in himself, asking only the use of a laboratory in which to carry out his experiment. He was "gilly" enough to prophesy that before long radio broadcasting would become a world-wide diversion.

At first, after leaving Yale, he toiled in the workshop of the Western Electric company in Chicago. He lived in a tiny room, and it was here that his great invention, the audion, was born. To his associates at Yale, he wrote: "If only I had more space." And this from the inventor who was later to be known as the "conqueror of space." By 1906 he introduced to the world the audion on three-element vacuum tube, subsequently to play the leading role in wireless development. Radio tubes are now annually produced in the millions for serving sets. The vacuum tube is one of many inventions in the history of science which had its birth amid humble surroundings.—Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

Perry's Indomitable Spirit.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

Captain Barclay, in command of the British fleet on Lake Erie in the war of 1812, the same who was defeated finally by Commodore Perry, off Put-In-Bay, believed that Commodore Perry was securely bottled up in the bay at Erie, where his vessels had been constructed. He felt sure that the bar at the entrance of the harbor would not permit ships of the size of Perry's to pass out. He watched the Americans try the bar and when the fleet did not make the attempt he was convinced that the bar held them securely in.

With this sense of security, he sailed away to a Canadian port to attend a dinner given in his honor, and in the absence of the opposing fleet, Commodore Perry spent an entire night in a successful experiment to get his fleet out in the open water. It had been found that the largest ship, the Lawrence, drew six feet, while there was but four feet of water over the bar.

The guns were taken off and two scoops made fast to the sides of the Lawrence, after being filled to near the gunwales with water. Pumping them out they lifted the ship far enough to enable it to clear the bottom, at the bar, and when the British fleet returned to its observation the next day it found the Lawrence out in the lake and the others following over the bar, and Captain Barclay sailed away to meet the American fleet in what he hoped would be a more favorable position.

At Erie, the starting point of Commodore Perry in this enterprise, was thus given the first indication of that indomitable spirit which knew no insurmountable obstacles, and which led eventually to the decisive victory of Lake Erie, September 10, 1813.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MONTYRE.

New York, April 11—In a pineapple pie Times square are a half hundred places schools catering chiefly to the hard-boiled boys of living. Broadway crowd. Portals are studied with such names as: Health Institute, Physical Culture Studio, Athletic Auditorium. And one is a Salon de Vim.

The professors are largely of the old school that used to advertise themselves—cannest, swathed in a tiger skin and holding a cave man club aloft. Quite a number of as strong men in the summer and winter classes in the winter.

Some of the visitors are iron workers, men, taxi drivers and even adagio dancers. But mostly the recruits are among those who live hard and dangerously along the cackling path. They can not do much with their hands so they try to keep pepped up physically.

Men who imbibe heavily of speakeasy, Turkish, almighty poker and dice players, confidence boys, race track touts and sundry regular patrons. The party-faced gangsters, who toss a medicine ball in the effort to give sagging muscles a little bounce.

Any number of those sleek boys who pop into the chop houses at twilight looking so fresh and vigorous have just come from a muscle jousting at one of the sundry night gyms. In other days they used to "steam out" in a Turkish bath.

But a Turkish bath a day is a trifle to keep them and they have found massages stimulate an appetite and give them a temporary red-corpuscled flush. There are also several institutions catering especially to wild ladies who go the pace.

If any one thinks these ladies can not pack a punch despite their semi-dissolute lives, just around the night clubs some early morning. They usually wait into action when the crowd leaves. And their victims are often carried out feet up.

Maid in the ladies' room of night clubs on Broadway keep foot bowls for customers who peel off their stockings, soak their tootsies and slip on dancing slippers to dance bare legged, the hussies.

In this connection some one tells me Ann Pennington started the stockless fad.

A Shadchen holds forth in an office building at Broadway and Forty-second street. He is a benign Jewish patriarch who derives his calling from the decree in the Talmud. "Blessed is he who finds his mate through the wisdom of an intermediary." The Shadchen introduces persons of the opposite sex for the honorable purpose of marriage—for a fee. They are numerous in the Ghetto.

In my life I have unofficially served as a Shadchen for four couples. That is through my introductions, they met, fell in love and married. All so far as I know have lived happily ever after and have several times expressed their gratitude. This little puff might develop something in case anything happens to the columning business. I have a robe and can sprout a beard in three weeks. The Great Oom!

Another house robe found, incidentally, is Paul Whiteham. In prowling around an avenue haberdashery the other day I ran across one of his late creations in process of making. It is apricot coloured with shawl lapels of deep pink. And there are sandals for the bum in the two shades.

When I recognized the Whiteham monogram the clerk confessed it belonged to the famed conductor. He explained it could not be finished until Paul returned for another fitting. And right there I snuffed off a dandy. "Just try it on over the back end of a hack!" I screamed.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER.

Washington, April 14—Alfred Pearce Dennis, Ph.D., LL.D., erudite officer of the tariff commission, has had opportunity during the sixty-two years of his life to observe at close range many men of high consequence.

As commercial attaché at the American embassies in Rome and London, as a special representative of the department of commerce in central and eastern Europe, and as a member of the tariff commission for more than five years, he has come in contact with many "big names."

And as he associated with each, he attempted to analyze them.

A frequent contributor to magazines, Dennis decided to put his analysis into printed form. So working in the moments he could spare from his duties at the tariff commission, he finally got together enough material for a book.

Theater News And Reviews

BY HALLIE HOUCK
"THE EASIEST WAY" STARS CONSTANCE BENNETT
"The Easiest Way," purported to be one of the best plays of the year, stars the million-dollar Constance Bennett, with Adolphe Menjou and Robert Montgomery playing the leads.

Anita Page and dramatic Marjorie Rameau have prominent parts. The play was introduced to New York in 1910, and since that time has been translated and played in all the major languages. Eugene Walter wrote the play.

Francis Palmer Tilton, artist who has contributed to Vanity Fair, Vogue and other outstanding magazines and scores of rotogravure sections, was signed to portray the artist drawing Constance Bennett for stocking ads. For several years he was under exclusive contract to draw advertisements for a large American silk company.

Here are Menjou's seven rules for a well-dressed man. First, always wear suspenders whenever a coat or sweater is worn for only suspenders drape trousers correctly; second, never allow shoes to be run down at the heels; third, have care for the condition of your hat; fourth, never crease the sleeves of a coat; fifth, never crease the trousers or knickers of golf clothes; sixth, dirty finger-nails are excusable only when working at manual labor, never at social functions; seventh, never appear unshaven except in your own bedroom.

GETS COMPLAINTS

Property Owners Ask Protection for Budding Flowers.

Marion juveniles must be more considerate choosing their play grounds, Probate Judge Oscar Gast declared this morning, as complaints of Marion garden makers and flower bed lovers continued to pour into his office.

Youngsters have been running over flower beds, gardens and soft lawns with utter abandon, if complaints made to the probate judge are true. And furthermore, the children refuse, in some instances, to be ordered off private property.

Juvenile authorities have promised property owners they will take a hand in keeping children off private property damaged by thoughtless playing. If further complaints are received.

TO GET FUNDS FROM DISPOSAL OF BONDS

County Securities at Printers in Columbus Today; To Boost Poor Relief.

Bonds aggregating $13,000 for Marion county relief purposes are being printed in Columbus today following the approval of a transcript of the bonds by the attorney general yesterday.

The bonds probably will be turned over to the retirement board of the state teachers' retirement system late this week and the money will be forwarded to county officials for appropriation immediately. The retirement system recently purchased the bonds from the county.

The money will be appropriated to relief funds where it will finance a greater share of relief work to be done the remainder of the year. Bonds for the relief money were issued under provisions of the Pringle Roberts bill passed by the legislature last year.

Receipt of this money will partially ease the cramped financial condition of the county's finances taking most of the unusually heavy relief burden off the county's operating funds.

We have developed an international system combined with the principle of equality, the obligations as well as of the rights of states."

Forecasts Era of Peace

"The American republics are to-day rapidly approaching the time when every major difference existing between them will be settled by the orderly processes of conciliation and arbitration. * * * From the earliest period of their history, the government of the republics of this hemisphere have been earnest advocates of the peaceful settlement of international disputes. * * * The common purpose to eliminate war and the determination to achieve peace and security represent a major contribution of the Americas to modern civilization."

Secretary Stimson asserted that Pan American day, which President Hoover had proclaimed, was "intended to emphasize those basic principles of international service which tend to bring the nations of America closer to one another."

The secretary said the intended international cooperation called for no abandonment of legislative national aims, but "does mean that all such aims must be so shaped as not to conflict with the complete fulfillment of international obligations."

Asserting the people of the Americas today have attained a "new consciousness" and face a "future loaded with great prospects and with heavy responsibilities," Ambassador Teller said for the first time in history "a single harmonious hymn" is raised by the common aspirations of the people of the American republics.

Split-Ends Mar Hair Beauty,
Clip and Singe Authority Says

BY JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

LONG hair discussions always bring up the problem of split ends because it is the excessive use of hot irons for curling those ends that usually produces splitting. Of course, an exaggerated dry scalp condition, indicating a lack of sufficient nourishment, is responsible for some cases of splitting, but mostly it's the use of too hot irons.

Singeing off these split ends is an excellent remedy, but for the average woman to attempt singeing at home frequently not only proves difficult, but dangerous. Therefore, if you insist upon singeing those ends off, go to your beauty shop. If you follow the clipping method, however, you can do it very nicely and safely.

First the hair should be parted. Then an inch away another part is made. Then the hair between those two parts should be divided off into one inch square sections. Holding one section of hair, twist it tightly between the fingers until it is tightly curled, ropelike strand of hair results.

Looking closely at this strand you will find that a few ends of hair have escaped here and there and that those ends are split. Pass the fingers of the free hand upward along the strand—you must work them up from the end of the strand toward the scalp—to free the hundreds of split ends of hair that must be clipped off with the scissors.

Just snip off the ends as close to the tightly coiled body of the strand as you can. Then, pick up the second section of hair, twist it tightly and repeat in this manner until all the split ends have been removed.

Split ends not only divert the oils which nourish the hair, but they give a fuzzy, unkempt appearance to any coiffure. Thus we need to remove them both for the health of the hair and for the beauty of the coiffure.

When the clipping is finished, brush the hair straight down and even up the ends by cutting them off with the scissors.

And now for a word or two about preventing this condition. Make sure that your curling irons aren't too hot and even when the temperature is moderate don't use the curling irons any more than is necessary. Learn to dampen the ends and coil them, pinning them in place with invisible hair pins until they dry.

Warm olive oil should be massaged over the scalp and then be permitted to run to the ends of the hair to lubricate the dry ends thoroughly.

Let the oil remain on for at least an hour before shampooing and all oil must be removed and a thorough rinsing must follow. Vinegar water is splendid to put new resistance into hair inclined to break off and split easily and this should follow the final rinsing after the shampoo. Two tablespoonfuls of vinegar to one quart of water. Let it remain on for five minutes, then rinse out again or the odor of vinegar will linger in your tresses.
